

Medical applications

TRAID VILLARROYA offers the medical sector a specialised material supplier and technology partner. From traditional 'advanced plastic and composites' materials to special high tech formulations, we have a high quality product that meets your needs. Our branches in Spain, Mexico and China, offer technical sales and support direct to the customer.

Production of special parts in Advance TKG® materials

Traid Villarroya now offers a full line of Medical Grade plastics designed for the diverse healthcare industry. These materials have been tested, approved and can be easily certified to meet the medical requirements. We provide complete lot and batch traceability as well as documented certification to exceed your needs. And with our full commitment to quality and ISO 9001:2008 certification you can count on us.

Production of special parts in Advance TKG® materials for laboratory use.
